Re: *Jane Doe 1000 v. Darren K. Indyke & Richard D. Kahn, 19-10577-LJL-DCF

Dear Judge Freeman:

We write on behalf of Plaintiff Jane Doe 1000 in the above-captioned litigation. Pursuant to Individual Rule II.A and Local Civil Rule 37.2, Plaintiff respectfully requests a pre-motion conference on Plaintiff's anticipated motion to compel Defendants Darren K. Indyke and Richard D. Kahn (1) to produce responsive documents from the Relevant Period as defined in Plaintiff's discovery requests; (2) to produce documents responsive to Plaintiff's requests, not simply documents that directly mention Plaintiff's name; and (3) to respond to Plaintiff's interrogatories.<sup>1</sup> The Court has made clear that discovery in this case would not be stayed pending the approval of the claims administration program or a motion to dismiss absent a contrary order from the Court. See Tr. of Nov. 21, 2019 Conf. at 26:10–12. Yet by failing to comply with their clear and unequivocal discovery obligations, including not producing a single document to date, Defendants are attempting to grant themselves a de facto stay of discovery. Defendants have provided no basis for their delay.

I. Background

Plaintiff alleges that Jeffrey Epstein and his co-conspirators operated a decades-long sex-trafficking scheme by which they recruited young women for sexual abuse. Compl. ¶¶ 23–26. Plaintiff was one of those women. Epstein and his associates trafficked her after seeing her modeling work in 1999, housed her in Epstein's apartment building, and sexually abused her for several years. Id. ¶¶ 38–46. After years of suffering in silence due to fear, Plaintiff filed a complaint against Defendants on November 14, 2019.

On January 28, 2020, Plaintiff sent Defendants a document preservation notice and identified various email accounts used by Jeffrey Epstein. Exhibit A, Jan. 28, 2020 Document Preservation Notice. Defendants responded on February 3, 2020, by stating that they were abiding by all of their discovery obligations, including their preservation obligations. Exhibit B, Feb. 3,

<sup>1</sup> Pursuant to Individual Rule I.C., Plaintiff states that she conferred in good faith with Defendants about the issues raised in this letter by telephone on April 27, 2020.

2020 Letter from B. Moskowitz to S. McCawley. Yet on the very same day, Defendants sent Plaintiff completely vacuous Rule 26 Disclosures. Defendants provided the name of one witness—Plaintiff—and stated that they were not aware of any documents, ESI, or tangible things in their possession, custody, or control that they would use to support their defenses. Exhibit C, Feb. 3, 2020 Initial Disclosures of Defendants Darren K. Indyke and Richard D. Kahn.

On March 10, 2020, Plaintiff served 79 Requests for Production (“RFPs”) and 18 Interrogatories on Defendants (collectively, Plaintiff’s “discovery requests”). In Plaintiff’s interrogatories, she again asked Defendants to identify potential witnesses, in addition to email accounts used by Epstein, telephone numbers used by Epstein, and other information to aid Plaintiff in identifying witnesses and the location of evidence necessary to prove her case. On April 16, 2020, after Plaintiff provided Defendants a week-long extension, Defendants served responses and objections in which they failed to respond to a single Interrogatory (aside from identifying Plaintiff as a witness to her own abuse) and failed to produce a single document. Exhibit D, Defendants’ Apr. 16, 2020 Objections and Responses to Plaintiff’s First Set of Interrogatories; Exhibit E, Defendants’ Apr. 16, 2020 Objections and Responses to Plaintiff’s First Request for Production of Documents.

On April 27, 2020, after sending Defendants a letter regarding the clear deficiencies in their responses and objections, Plaintiff met and conferred with Defendants for an hour and a half. See Ex. F, Apr. 20, 2020 Letter from S. McCawley to B. Moskowitz. Defendants stated that they had not yet fully processed the ESI in their possession, had not run any searches on the ESI, and were not in a position to provide information about the ESI, despite having received Plaintiff’s document retention notice in January and Plaintiff’s discovery requests in March. During the meet and confer, Plaintiff also explained her position on the relevance and necessity of each of her discovery requests, and offered to answer any questions that Defendants had about the relevance of any of her requests. Defendants refused to accept the Relevant Period that Plaintiff defined in her discovery requests, and stated that they would only produce documents that reference Plaintiff. They also stated, without providing any legal basis for their position, that they would not produce anything relating to Epstein’s sex trafficking or abuse of other victims.

As of today, May 7, 2020, Plaintiff has yet to receive a single document or piece of information responsive to any of her discovery requests, including the documents that specifically reference Plaintiff that Defendants agreed to produce. The only information Defendants have provided to Plaintiff in the course of discovery is their statement that Plaintiff is a witness in this case. Plaintiff has produced more than 10,000 pages of documents responsive to Defendants’ discovery requests to date, and has responded to all of Defendants’ interrogatories to the best of her ability.

II. Defendants’ Objection to the Relevant Period is Improper.

Defendants have improperly objected to the Relevant Period that Plaintiff defined in her discovery requests as January 1, 1999 to the present. Without providing any legal basis for their position, Defendants contend that the relevant time period should be limited to the dates of Plaintiff's abuse as alleged in the Complaint.<sup>2</sup>

Under Rule 26 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, parties may obtain discovery "regarding any nonprivileged matter that is relevant to any party's claim or defense." Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). "[R]elevance for the purposes of discovery is an extremely broad concept." Melendez v. Greiner, No. 01 CIV.07888 SAS DF, 2003 WL 22434101, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 23, 2003) (Freeman, J.).

This case turns on (1) whether Jeffrey Epstein sexually trafficked and sexually assaulted Plaintiff and (2) whether Plaintiff's claims are timely, an affirmative defense that Defendants have already raised in a motion to dismiss. ECF No. 34. Discovery from the Relevant Period as defined by Plaintiff is relevant to both Plaintiff's claims and Defendants' statute of limitations defense, and is reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Epstein's sexual trafficking and assault of Plaintiff began in 1999 and lasted for several years. But Plaintiff has reason to believe, based on publicly available documents, that Epstein and his co-conspirators began trafficking and sexually abusing young girls and women in the same manner that he trafficked and abused Plaintiff in the mid-1990s, and continued to do so up until the date of Epstein's arrest on July 8, 2019. Documents relating to the sexual trafficking and/or sexual assault of others at any point during that period would make the fact that Epstein trafficked and sexually assaulted Plaintiff, the key fact that Plaintiff bears the burden of proving in this case, more probable than it would be without such evidence. See Fed. R. Evid. 401. Plaintiff also bears the burden of proving Epstein's intent to sexually assault her. See Cerilli v. Kezis, 16 A.D.3d 363, 364 (2d Dep't 2005) ("The elements of battery are bodily contact, made with intent, and offensive in nature."). Evidence that he sexually trafficked and assaulted others would be directly relevant to proving such intent. Such evidence would also likely be admissible at trial. See Fed. R. Evid. 415.

Further, Defendants have raised a statute of limitations defense in this matter, ECF No. 34, and Plaintiff contends that they should be equitably estopped from doing so based on Epstein's misconduct. Compl. ¶ 15. Although Plaintiff disagrees with Defendants' interpretation of the case law, Defendants contend that to invoke equitable estoppel, Plaintiff bears the burden of proving that Epstein's "conduct cause[d] her to delay bringing suit," that Epstein "made a definite misrepresentation of fact, and had reason to believe that the plaintiff would rely on it," and that "plaintiff reasonably relied on that misrepresentation." ECF No. 34 at 9–10. Documents relating to Epstein's misconduct after his abuse of Plaintiff ended could very well be relevant to equitable estoppel, including to whether Plaintiff reasonably relied on that misconduct in staying silent about her abuse until after Epstein's death.

The fact that Epstein and his co-conspirators carried out a global sex-trafficking operation, which directly injured Plaintiff, for 20 years does not mean that Plaintiff is not entitled to discovery about that operation. Yet Defendants have taken that position and have not indicated any willingness to change it. The Court should direct Defendants to search documents within their possession, custody, or control from the Relevant Period as described in Plaintiff's discovery requests—1999 to the present.

<sup>2</sup> This is despite the fact that Defendants themselves served discovery requests on Plaintiff in which they defined the relevant time period as "the date on which you first learned of Decedent through the date of your responses to these requests."

III. Defendants Must Produce More than Documents That Explicitly Reference Plaintiff.

In addition to their blanket objection to the production of documents from any year aside from the years during which Plaintiff was herself sexually assaulted, Defendants contend that they will only produce one category of documents: those that specifically mention Jane Doe 1000. Defendants have refused, without providing any legal basis for doing so, to produce any document that does not directly reference Plaintiff, regardless of the year.

Defendant cannot broadly object to producing any documents that do not directly reference Plaintiff. Documents relevant to Plaintiff's claims and Defendants' defenses go well beyond documents that reference Plaintiff. The following is a small sampling of examples of relevant documents that would not necessarily mention Plaintiff:

- As explained above, documents evidencing Epstein's trafficking and sexual assaults of others, although not about Plaintiff herself, are directly relevant to whether he trafficked and sexually assaulted Plaintiff.
- Epstein's communications with his co-conspirators are likely to evidence the scheme by which Epstein recruited and abused Plaintiff, even if they do not specifically mention Plaintiff. For example, documents in which Epstein and his co-conspirators discuss recruiting young models or arranging for their housing in Epstein's apartment complex would corroborate Plaintiff's allegations.
- Documents relating to payments from Epstein to his employees are relevant to whether Epstein paid his employees to keep them quiet, and would be relevant in impeaching witnesses in this case.
- Documents relating to Epstein's silencing, intimidation, and manipulation of victims other than Plaintiff is relevant to establishing whether Plaintiff reasonably feared Epstein, which is relevant to Defendants' statute of limitations defense and Plaintiff's equitable estoppel theory.

Plaintiff explained these theories of relevance during a meet and confer call with Defendants. Without any legal basis, and while purporting to understand Plaintiff's position, Defendants consistently maintained that they would not produce any document that does not directly mention Jane Doe 1000. This position unwarranted, legally baseless, and unacceptable, and Defendants have not indicated that they are willing to change it. The Court should direct Defendants to search for documents within their possession, custody, or control and not allow Defendants to unilaterally and arbitrarily limit their search to documents that reference Plaintiff's name.

IV. Defendants Must Respond to Plaintiff's Interrogatories.

Plaintiff served 18 interrogatories on Defendants, and Defendants failed to answer a single one, aside from listing Plaintiff as an "individual who may have knowledge concerning the issues in this lawsuit." Ex. D at 3. Plaintiff asked Defendants to identify email accounts used by Epstein or his employees or agents on his behalf—Defendants provided no answer. Id. Plaintiff asked Defendants to identify telephone numbers used by Epstein or his employees or agents on his behalf—Defendants provided no answer. Id. at 4. Plaintiff asked Defendants to provide a list of Epstein’s employees in an effort to identify potential witnesses to Epstein’s abuse of Plaintiff and other victims—Defendants provided no answer. Id. This is despite the fact that Defendant Kahn was Epstein’s longtime accountant and likely knows who was on Epstein’s payroll. This total failure to answer even basic questions about the location of documents and potential witnesses is egregious.

When asked about their failure to respond to any interrogatories, in addition to raising their meritless objections to the Relevant Period and to producing information that does not relate directly to Plaintiff, Defendants stated that they do not have responsive information because Epstein is dead and Defendants do not know where to look for responsive information. Defendants also drew a distinction between their capacities as Epstein’s lawyer and accountant, as opposed to their capacities as executors of his Estate, but could not give Plaintiff a clear answer as to their position on how that distinction affects their discovery obligations. For example, Defendants’ counsel could not tell Plaintiff whether Darren Indyke—Epstein’s longtime lawyer who has ties to Epstein’s co-conspirators<sup>3</sup>—or Richard Kahn—Epstein’s longtime accountant who assisted him for years with both personal and professional accounting work—had ever been directly asked whether they know of any individuals who might have information about Plaintiff’s claims.

Plaintiff still has no understanding of how Defendants have attempted to fulfill their discovery obligations, or of what documents or information are within their possession, custody, or control. At this stage in the litigation, such opaqueness is unacceptable and a clear attempt by Defendants to avoid their discovery obligations in the hopes that the claims administration process comes to fruition. But Defendants cannot unilaterally decide to stay this case. The Court should direct Defendants to respond to Plaintiff’s interrogatories.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Sigrid S. McCawley

Dear Mr. Moskowitz:

This is a document preservation notice issued in connection with the above-captioned civil actions. Please read this notice carefully and take all steps necessary to preserve all documents that might be relevant to this dispute. You should take affirmative steps to suspend any automated deletion. The documents covered by this notice are potentially subject to discovery and production in the above-captioned litigation and will be needed as evidence and/or to enable us to prepare fully to take your clients' sworn testimony in a deposition and/or at a trial.

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26, you were required to identify "all documents, electronically stored information, and tangible things that the disclosing party has in its possession, custody, or control and may use to support its claims or defenses." In your Initial Disclosures for Annie Farmer, Teresa Helm, and Juliette Bryant, however, you stated that "[a]t present, the Co-Executors are not aware of any such documents, electronically stored information, and tangible things." I assume that you mean that you are not aware that any "documents, electronically stored information, [or] tangible things" that would be supportive of your clients' defenses. If instead you are taking the position that your clients do not have possession, custody, or control over Mr. Epstein's documents (including his electronically stored information), please state so in your reply so that we may bring that to the Court's attention immediately.

At the November 21, 2019, conference Judge Freeman stated: "Counsel should know what their obligations are and those obligations are pretty clear under the law and counsel should take them seriously. If you do not preserve evidence that should be preserved that you had a reason to believe was relevant to claims or defense in the case and that you didn't take steps to preserve, there can be negative consequences down the road." Nov. 21, 2019, Hearing Tr. at 33:4-10. The Court instructed that your preservation efforts should be "broad enough" to documents located at Mr. Epstein's "multiple residences in multiple countries across the world."

Effective immediately, you should ensure that your clients preserve all documents, whether they exist electronically or in paper files. This includes documents that presently exist, or that are created in the future, in your clients' possession, custody or control, including in common files maintained for your clients.

Dear Ms. McCawley:

As you know, we represent Defendants Darren K. Indyke and Richard D. Kahn, Co-Executors of the Estate of Jeffrey E. Epstein (together, the "Co-Executors"), in the above-referenced actions (the "Actions"). We are writing in response to your letter dated January 28, 2020.

You state: "If ... you are taking the position that your clients do not have possession, custody, or control over Mr. Epstein's documents (including his electronically stored information), please state so in your reply so that we may bring that to the Court's attention immediately." We have never taken that position. Accordingly, there is nothing to raise with the Court.

Separately, we confirm that our clients are abiding by all of their discovery obligations including preservation obligations. However, your list of subject matters is inappropriate because it is argumentative, assumes many unproven facts not in evidence and is overly broad.<sup>1</sup> Your interpretation of Local Rule 26.3 is likewise inappropriate; we defer to the rule itself.

Very truly yours,

Bennet J. Moskowitz

<sup>1</sup>It bears mentioning that counsel in another action against the Co-Executors previously attempted to extract positions from us concerning a similar list and, failing that, to obtain relief from Magistrate Freeman. Such counsel obtained no such relief. Nor was any relief necessary given our identical representation in that action that our clients are abiding by their preservation obligations.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

JANE DOE 1000,

Plaintiff,

v.

DARREN K. INDYKE and RICHARD D. KAHN
in their capacities as the executors of the ESTATE
OF JEFFREY EDWARD EPSTEIN,

Defendants.

Case No. 1:19-cv-10577-LJL-DCF

DEFENDANTS' OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO PLAINTIFF JANE DOE 1000'S FIRST SET OF INTERROGATORIES TO DEFENDANTS

Defendants Darren K. Indyke and Richard D. Kahn, as co-executors of the estate of Jeffrey E. Epstein (the "Co-Executors"), by their attorneys, pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 26 and 33, provide the following responses to Plaintiff Jane Doe 1000's ("Plaintiff") First Set of Interrogatories to Defendants (the "Interrogatories").

RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

These responses are made solely for the purpose of and in relation to discovery in the above-captioned action. The Co-Executors submit these responses subject to, and without intending to waive, and expressly preserving: (i) any objections as to relevancy, materiality, competency, privilege and admissibility of any documents and information produced in discovery, including without limitation herein; and (ii) the right to object to any other discovery requests. The Co-Executors reserve their right to amend these responses if and when appropriate. Further, these responses are neither an admission nor acceptance of any alleged facts, including without limitation those stated in the Interrogatories.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIONS TO DEFINITIONS

The Co-Executors object to Plaintiff's definition of the term "Jeffrey Epstein" or "Epstein" on the grounds that, insofar as it includes "any entities owned or controlled by Jeffrey Epstein, any employee, agent, attorney, consultant, or representative of Jeffrey Epstein," it is overbroad, unduly burdensome, vague and ambiguous. The Co-Executors will interpret "Jeffrey Epstein" or "Epstein" as Jeffrey E. Epstein.

The Co-Executors also object to Plaintiff's definition of the term "Ghislaine Maxwell" or "Maxwell" on the grounds that, insofar as it includes "any entities owned or controlled by Ghislaine Maxwell, any employee, agent, attorney, consultant, or representative of Ghislaine Maxwell," it is overbroad, unduly burdensome, vague and ambiguous. The Co-Executors will interpret "Ghislaine Maxwell" or "Maxwell" as Ghislaine Maxwell.

The Co-Executors also object to Plaintiff's definition of the term "Massage" on the grounds that it is more expansive than the common use of the term and is inconsistent with the term's usage in the Complaint.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES TO INTERROGATORIES

INTERROGATORY NO. 1

List the names and addresses of all persons who are believed or known by You, Your agents, or Your attorneys to have any knowledge concerning any of the issues in this lawsuit, and specify the subject matter about which the witness has knowledge.

RESPONSE:

The Co-Executors object to Interrogatory No. 1 on the grounds and to the extent that it calls for the production of information protected by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, and any other applicable privilege or protection from disclosure. The Co-Executors also object to Interrogatory No. 1 on the grounds that it seeks information that is neither relevant to Plaintiff's claims nor proportional to the needs of this case; it is also overly broad and unduly burdensome. Subject to and without waiving the foregoing objection, the Co-Executors identify the following individual who may have knowledge concerning the issues in this lawsuit: Plaintiff. The Co-Executors will supplement this response if any additional responsive information is ascertained.

Identify all email accounts used by Epstein or any of his employees or agents on his behalf.

RESPONSE:

The Co-Executors object to Interrogatory No. 2 on the grounds that it seeks information that is neither relevant to Plaintiff's claims nor proportional to the needs of this case; it is also overly broad and unduly burdensome. The Co-Executors further object to this Interrogatory on the grounds it seeks "discovery about discovery," which would result in unnecessary expense. Such matters are more appropriately and cost-effectively addressed in the context of the parties' discussions regarding document discovery. The Co-Executors also object to this Interrogatory on the grounds and to the extent that it calls for the production of information protected by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work product doctrine, and any other applicable privilege or protection from disclosure. The Co-Executors further object to this Interrogatory on the grounds and to the extent that it calls for the production of information outside their possession, custody, and control, and is unconstrained by time.

INTERROGATORY NO. 3

As you likely have anticipated, I specifically write in response to your total failure to respond to your discovery obligations. I ask that we meet and confer about your lack of responses as soon as practicable.

First, as you are aware, Plaintiff served eighteen interrogatories on Defendants. You answered none of them; rather, each interrogatory is met with an assortment of boilerplate objections, ranging from objections to relevancy or “discovery about discovery” or assuming “facts not in evidence” (which is especially puzzling, given that the very purpose of discovery is to find such facts). At best, these objections are deficient; at worst, they are meritless and borderline frivolous.

Similarly, you have failed to adequately respond to most of Plaintiff’s document requests. Again, your objections are premised on conclusory objections, ranging from objections to relevancy and claims that certain documents are outside Defendants’ possession, custody, and control. As part of your discovery obligations, “generalized objections that discovery requests are vague, overly broad, or unduly burdensome are not acceptable.” Shanchun Yu v. Diguojiaoyu, Inc., 18-CV-7303, 2019 WL 6174204, *4-5 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 20, 2019) (granting plaintiffs’ motion to compel discovery after defendants “raised repeated and rote objections to Plaintiffs’ document requests, [] refused to provide Plaintiffs any documents whatsoever, and [] answered the interrogatories in [a] substantially similar fashion”); see also Harris v. Bronx Parent Housing Network, Inc., 18-CV-11681, 2020 WL 763740, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 14, 2020) (“Boilerplate objections that include unsubstantiated claims of undue burden, overbreadth and lack of relevancy, accompanied by a lack of document production or interrogatory response, are a paradigm of discovery abuse.”) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted). “A party resisting discovery has the burden of showing specifically how, despite the broad and liberal construction afforded the federal discovery rules, each interrogatory is not relevant or how each question is overly broad, burdensome or oppressive . . . by submitting affidavits or offering evidence revealing the nature of the burden.” Harris, 2020 WL 763740, at *2 (internal quotation marks and citations omitted).

Second, your relevance objections are meritless. All of Plaintiff’s requests are relevant. For example, please explain how documents relating to Jane Doe 1000 are not relevant to her claims or are not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. See Request 1. Epstein abused Plaintiff several times a week for years and housed her in one of his apartment buildings. She is entitled to any documents that relate to her. Plaintiff’s other requests are also directly relevant to her claims or the Estate’s affirmative defenses. She is entitled to discovery, for example, about Epstein’s relationship with Les Wexner, Victoria’s Secret, or any other modeling connections about which Epstein lied (e.g., RFPs 15, 17, 39, 61, 64-69); any Epstein-affiliated attorney she was forced to meet with at Epstein’s direction (e.g., RFPs 54-55, 57-59; Interrogatories 10, 17); Epstein’s communications with associates who were present in his homes when Plaintiff was abused (e.g., RFP 70); documents relating to the co-conspirators who helped Epstein recruit and abuse Plaintiff (e.g., RFPs 3, 4, 12, 25, 28, 29); and Plaintiff’s and Epstein’s travel to the places in which Epstein abused Plaintiff. (e.g., RFPs 13, 14, 48-51; Interrogatory 6).

Moreover, Plaintiff is entitled to know the breadth and nature the sex-trafficking operation that she was victimized by. See Fed. R. Evid. 415 (“In a civil case involving a claim for relief based on a party’s alleged sexual assault or child molestation, the court may admit evidence that the party committed any other sexual assault or child molestation.”). Plaintiff alleges that Epstein utilized his sex-trafficking operation to recruit and abuse countless young girls and women in a methodical and similar fashion. Epstein’s recruitment, trafficking, and assault of other girls in the same way that he recruited, trafficked, and assaulted Plaintiff would make Plaintiff’s allegations more probable. See Fed. R. Evid. 401. Plaintiff’s discovery requests are therefore directly relevant to the allegations in her Complaint, or, at a minimum, are reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Third, your objections to certain of the time periods stated in the Requests are meritless for several reasons. As explained above, Epstein’s other sexual assaults would be both relevant and admissible in this case, regardless of time period. Further, you have raised a statute of limitations defense in Plaintiff’s case, and Plaintiff has made an equitable estoppel argument in response. Plaintiff is entitled to discovery relevant to her equitable estoppel theory, including but not limited to any threats or misrepresentations that Epstein made to Plaintiff to prevent her from filing this lawsuit, outside of the time period during which Plaintiff was physically abused by Epstein.

Fourth, your objection to Plaintiff’s definition of Jeffrey Epstein as including “any entities owned or controlled by Jeffrey Epstein, any employee, agent, attorney, consultant, or representative of Jeffrey Epstein” is an improper attempt to narrow your discovery obligations in this matter. Your objection directly contradicts the Local Rules of this Court, which define the word “parties” as including a defendant’s “employees, partners, . . . or affiliates.” Local Rule 26.3(c)(5). Plaintiff’s definition is proper.

Fifth, your responses and objections state many times that certain documents and information are outside of the Estate’s possession, custody, and control. If that is the case, please explain what is and is not within the Estate’s possession and control. For example, please explain in detail what computers, hard drives, email accounts, telephone records, or hard copy documents you have reviewed and provide a list of search terms that were used and specifically list what items you claim to not have access to. We know that Epstein at a minimum used the following email accounts:

- jeffreye@mindspring.com;
- jeeproject@yahoo.com;
- jeevacation@gmail.com;

- jeffrey.epstein@centurytel.net; and

Confirm that you have accessed and searched each of these accounts and provide the protocol used for the search. In the alternative, if the Estate contends that information that is responsive to Plaintiff’s discovery requests was destroyed, provide all details relating to the destruction.

Please let us know your availability for a meet and confer on the following dates and times:

- Thursday, April 23, 2020 between 3:00 EST and 6:00 EST; and
